

Contact: Ted Faraone 212-489-1313 (ted.faraone@verizon.net)
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

SYNDIE "HOMETEAM" TV WINS 'ACCOLADES' –
ANNUAL AWARD TO CAUSE-BASED MEDIA BY MEDIA PROFESSIONALS

SEATTLE, WA, April 9, 2007 – The nationally syndicated "HomeTeam" television program, a cause-based, weekly unscripted reality hour with host Troy McClain (of "The Apprentice" fame) has been honored by the 2007 Accolade Awards Competition.

"HomeTeam," which won one of only eight Accolade television "Awards of Excellence," joins such noted Accolade recipients as Hallmark Entertainment and The Academy of Television Arts & Sciences Foundation, the charitable arm of TV's Emmy Awards, as winners of the Accolade.

"HomeTeam" won an Accolade Award of Excellence in the "Viewer Impact: Motivational/Inspirational" category and Honorable Mention in the "Reality Programming" category.

"HomeTeam" is a motivational program aimed at first time home buyers, who make up about one third of the US housing market. The program lends a hand to aspiring first-time homeowners. Typically "HomeTeam" selects a family from nominees through its Web sites, www.hometeam.com & www.ht-tv.com, in a given geographic area, then buys an undervalued property, and enlists the friends and relatives of the recipients in remodeling the house before the surprise unveiling to the lucky family, who are given no advance inkling of their good fortune.

They receive down payment and closing costs up to 15% of the cost of acquiring the home, up to $20,000 of improvements and furnishings, and up to $18,000 toward the first year's mortgage payments. They are offered coaching in budgeting and credit. Sponsors such as LAY'S® BRAND (of potato chip fame) and Levitz furniture sweeten the pot for "HomeTeam" recipients.

The worldwide Accolade Awards, bestowed by The Accolade Competition based in La Jolla, California, honor excellence in cause-based media, including film, television, and videography. The peer-review Accolade awards recognize excellence in media that have outstanding entertainment value and have a positive effect on society and the human condition. Accolade judges are media professionals who include filmmakers and distributors and programmers of film, video, and television. The Accolade Awards were founded in 2002 by noted TV producer Dr. Thomas Baker (PhD, University of Missouri at Columbia).

The "HomeTeam" TV program is augmented by the Hometeam.com website which offers critical information to first-time home buyers. The websites feature HomeTeam University, an online educational resource for home buyers, as well as comprehensive background information designed to guide the first-time home buyer through every step on the way to realizing the American Dream. Produced by LENZ-works Productions of Salt Lake City, the “HomeTeam” TV program is distributed by Litton Entertainment.

“Our mission is to help make a difference in people’s lives,” says “HomeTeam” executive-in-charge of production Stephanie J. Durham.